UNITY

in motion

Bethel College 300 East 27th Street North Newton, Kansas 67117-0531 www.bethelks.edu

Unity... *a totality of related parts: an entity that is a complex or systematic whole.

It goes without saying that the 2004-2005 academic year was memorable for its challenges. The Program Review was probably the single biggest event that most faculty and students will carry away with them from this year. We were faced with change, which is often difficult.

Despite how one felt regarding the Program Review, it cannot be denied that out of it stemmed the reminder that life is about change. Change forces us to move ahead on our journey—to embrace discomfort, to use our voices, to remain unified in the midst of difference.

One might argue that unity was not present on our campus this year. But unity is not synonymous with sameness. We are different. We all have a unique vision of our community. But we were unified in wanting Bethel to remain strong and to endure for future generations.

We learned to put aside our differences of opinions and to embrace life, to embrace the Bethel experience. We laughed, we learned, and we chose to move forward in our journey after pausing briefly to lighten our load.

Both men's and women's tennis teams had impressive seasons this fall. The men were able to pull positive momentum for their upcoming spring season by starting with a winning record. The women's highlight was winning the KCAC championship. Katrina Brodhagen and Veronica Bansemer were named First Team All-KCAC, and Amy Castle, Ashley Ulbrich, and Shelly Wedel were named Second Team All-KCAC. This all happened with first year coach John Cayton, who was assisted by Gary Chupp.

Coach Angela Byrd-Stevenson called this season a "rebuilding year for the lady Threshers," and stated their best game was against McPherson. Although they did not win, she felt the girls out-played them the entire game. There were a few rookies who had never played soccer before, but they didn't have any trouble coming together as a team. They competed in the KCAC and were led by Meghan Reha in saves. Overall, Coach Byrd-Stevenson was very pleased with the girls' effort.

The goal for the men's soccer team was to improve from last years season. This goal was met. The team finished with an overall record of 9-10 and finished fifth in the KCAC with a record of 5-4. This year saw a lot of new members for the team. The young team ended the season shutting out four of their last six appanents. Part of the success of this year's season can be attributed to 12 new recruits, many of whom had very significant roles on the team. The future of the program looks promising with this energetic group of young athletes.

The Bethel football team started the season strong, acquiring a 4-0 record. Unfortunately they lost their next and final five games. However, even after their first three losses, the Threshers were still tied for second place in the KCAC. Fans enjoyed one of the most exciting Bethel football games in recent history when they played then undefeated Tabor College on our home turf. The large afternoon crowd stood on its feet for the final minutes of regulation and stayed standing through two overtimes, doing their best to cheer the Thresher gridirons to a win. The outcome was an unfortunate one point loss, but Bethel played some great football.

The Importance of Being Earnest

During Fall Fest Bethel College theater students performed the play "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde. Brent Noel, assistant professor of communication arts directed this production. The cast was made up of nine actors: Ben Gundy, Aaron Linscheid, Andrew Findley, Shawn Rath, Parker Stanley, Bridget Kratzer, Rachel Combs, Rachel Hetzke, and Caitlin Buerge. "The Importance of Being Earnest" is set in Victorian England and is about two young men vying for love and affection from two young ladies. The comedy satirized proper English society, superficial values, and pretentious happy endings.

Waiting for Godot

The play "Waiting for Godot" by Samuel Beckett was performed November 19-21 in Krehbiel Auditorium. Brent Noel, assistant professor of communication arts directed this play and senior Bethony Amstutz assisted him. The cast included four Bethel students, J.J. Birky, Jared Hawkey, Henry Dick and Caitlin Welch, as well as community member Ethan Fitch, who played Boy. "Waiting for Godot" was a tragicomic existentialist play about two men who meet on a deserted stretch of road to wait for the appearance of Godot. "Beckett shows us the humor and absurdity of people doing their best just trying to get through the day," said Noel.

Fall Break

Fall Break is a great time for a short trip with friends. While some students choose to take advantage of the quiet and stay on campus, some students choose to go to wherever they call home and visit with familiar people, and some go on road trips all over the country. Here we see a few examples of where Bethel students visited this Fall Break.

At the Christmas Gala, students had a chance to dust off their nice clothes and have a little fun just before finals. The evening started off with dinner served by faculty and staff, followed by a jazz concert in Krehbiel Auditorium. President Epp and his wife then invited the campus into their home for dessert, with carriage rides departing from right outside Goerz House. This year's men's basketball season had its share of ups and downs. Among the ups was the opportunity to travel to the Bahamas in December to play against Grace College and Trinity Christian in the Bahamas Tournament. The game against Grace College was a loss, but one that Grace College had to fight for, only gaining over the Bethel men after going into overtime twice. While it wasn't a winning season, with 10 wins and 14 losses, the men held strong and kept the games close.

Bethel College celebrated 50 years of operas and musicals with the performance of the tragic opera "Faust" by Charles Gaunad. The opera was performed March 10-12 in Krehbiel Auditorium. "Faust" is the story of an aged philosopher who feels his life is worthless and signs a pact with Mephistopheles, a servant of the devil, to regain his youth at the price of his soul. Mephistopheles then goes on and tries to capture the soul of a young girl, Marguerite, by breaking her faith. This play was directed by Kathryn Kasper, associate professor of music.

"This piece really stretched our cast," said Kasper. The opera was made up of singers, dancers, and actors. The cast included Chikezie Eze, Ben Kliewer, Greta Steingard, Jeff Janzen, Andrew Findley, Caitlin Welch and Bethany Amstutz. Members of the chorus were Amstutz, Angela Carriker, David Nance, Ryan Shephard, Barry Turner II, Adrienne Gerek, Janzen, Heidi Johnson, Emily Kerbs, Stephanie Stivers, Kristin Watson-Drennen, Caitlin Buerge, Chelsea Chaffin, Andrew Cornwell, Findley, Katie Franz, Andrea Nickel, Caley Ortman, Bill Pruett, Malcolm Rhymer, Steingard and Kristin Wedel. Dancers were Margaret Mead-Finizia and Amber Lack, both courtesy of Bethel College Academy of Performing Arts.

The Bethel College Sinfonia, conducted by musical director Christopher Kach, assistant professor of music, provided the instrumental music.

SPRING

Bethel students showed their creativity in the places they decided to visit, scottering themselves across the country, and some even left this country for a short reprieve. Spring break is a great time to slow down, take it easy and recuperate from the trials of everyday life. Whether you go home and sit on the couch in a vegetative state, travel and see the world with your friends and family, or if you stick around and work, it is nice to have a bit of free time to think or be carefree (your choice). All in all, it is a little dose of medication for that early set-in of spring fever—just enough to get these students through until June.

BUILDING A STRONGER TEAM

The start of the spring semester also meant the beginning of the track season. The first indoor meet was on February 12, and the outdoor season began on March 12th.

This year the Threshers were coached by Tracy Tuttle (head coach), Chad Schilling (assistant coach), and Marc Friesen (distance). Bethel had its largest team in recent history this year with 22 men and eight women participating in outdoor track. "We have some real depth in talent," Tuttle said.

This was a successful year with several first place wins throughout the season. There were many returning athletes and the new recruits also meshed well with the team. Freshman runner Megan Klaassen had multiple first place wins, and freshman Jeff Buller was a national qualifier in the shot put.

Only good things can be expected of the Threshers for next year. The team will be able to abandon the Newton High School track that they practiced and competed on and break in the new track at Bethel College.

The 2004-05 school year marked the second official golf season at Bethel. The golfers competed in both the fall and spring.

The Bethel College men's golf team was coached by Gregg Dick (head coach) and Ben Schrag (assistant coach). There was a full team this year with returning seniors Ryan Gerber and Kenton Nickel, junior Joel Gaeddert and sophomore Rodney Enszy and freshmen newcomers Jash Palm, Bret Bartel and Weston Tallman.

Coach Gregg Dick summed up the year by saying "We made some good strides this year as we continued to improve over last year. We are still not at the point where we want to be or where we need to be to compete at the top of the conference, but we are working in the right direction. It was an enjoyable season and one that we can use to continue to build on for next year."

JOHN CAYTON

The men's and women's tennis teams returned to the courts for the spring tennis season. The spring is the men's primary season, and the women's secondary season. The women had their main competitions in the fall.

This was the first year at Bethel for head coach John Cayton who was assisted by Gary Chupp. The men's team underwent several changes this year adjusting to a new coach and five incoming freshmen.

After stepping up to the challenges during the fall, the spring season went well. Cayton said that the men developed "good team spirit and team harmony." The men had their first conference win of the season when they swept Tabar 9-0 in mid-April. The team continued to grow and improved throughout the year.

The women, who won the conference championship last fall, spent the spring season preparing for the regional tournament. In a very tough regional, their season ended in the first round of the NAIA Region IV Tournament in Wichita.

How I Learned to Drive

The Bethel College drama department presented the dark comedy "How I Learned to Drive" in the Fine Arts Center on May 5-7. This play, by Paula Vogel, employed the metaphor of driving to explore a seven year affair between Lil' Bit (Bethany Amstutz) and her uncle (J.J. Birky). This coming of age story depicted the life of Lil' Bit from adolescence through adult womanhood, and reveals what she learned from the charming uncle she had loved.

This production was a thought provoking play that addressed the relative issue of sexual abuse within society.

During the weekend of April 29-30 the Bethel College Dance Ensemble presented "The Dance of Oz." This performance showcased ballet, tap, jazz, hip-hop, and modern styles of dance. It was an original combination of L. Frank Baum's children's classic "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Wiz," a musical adaptation of Baum's story with an original score by Quincy Jones.

Men's Ensemble and Women's Chorus

The director of the Women's Chorus and Men's Ensemble is William Eash, professor of music. The music groups are open to vocalists interested in singing and learning more about music. The ensembles had several concerts throughout the year including their fall concert, spring concert, and they also sang for the Masterworks Concert: Mozart's Requiem. One highlight was around Christmas when they performed an entire concert in German for Deutsche Weihnachten service.

Baccalaureate

On Sunday morning (May 22) before commencement students from the Bethel College graduating class participated in the baccalaureate service at Bethel College Mennanite Church. The service is planned and carried out by members of the graduating class. It included reflections from graduates, a responsive reading written and led by Kara Schmidt and Eric Stucky, vocal selections performed by the Senior Choir, scripture readings and a poem dedicated to the class written and read by Elizabeth Rempel and Jared Hawkley. All graduates are invited to light a candle during the service, and family and friends can greet the graduates at an outdoor reception following the service.

Commencement

Sunday, May 22 marked Bethel College's 112th commencement. One hundred and five students walked across the Memorial Hall stage to receive a degree. Forty-three graduates received a bachelor of arts degree while 65 earned a bachelor of science. The class was made up of 44 men and 64 women from 13 states and three foreign countries. This year Bethel also saw the 300th social work graduate since the program was accredited in 1974.

The commencement speaker was Bethel professor of psychology Paul Lewis, who was also the recipient of the 2005 Ralph P. Schrag Distinguished Teaching Award. In his speech Lewis described the seven virtues he said were necessary for helping to create a better world: humility, knowledge, courage, moderation, honesty, justice and piety.
